Assuming you have Admin Privileges: Click on Control Panel | Administrative Tools | Local Security Policy | Local Policies | Security Options. Scroll down the list and find the two items dealing with the Recovery Console. One is "Allow administrative logon" and the other is "Allow floppy copy and access to all files and folders". Enable both of these policies.

You can now access the RC without the Admin password prompt.

Hope this helps,

| I am afraid I already know the answer, but is there any way to boot using
| recovery console without having the administrator password? I have
| administrator privileges with my login, but not the actual admin password. I
| will have to wait way too long if I have to go through our tech support..

| Thanks in advance.
