

Re: Data Feeds Sleeping

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2006-05/msg03332.html>

- From: Unk <not@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 09 May 2006 02:03:56 -0400
-

On Mon, 8 May 2006 22:45:02 -0700, Hal <Hal@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

I get a popup computer message now and then, in a sort of bell shaped message box, stating

"Data Feeds Sleeping"

Anyone else familiar with this, and to what in the world does it refer?
Thanks in advance?

This is a link to a small FREE program by McAfee Anti-virus named Stinger. It will scan your system for 54 known viruses and trojans and repair them. You don't need McAfee anti-virus installed on your computer... this is a stand alone program. <http://vil.nai.com/vil/stinger/> or <http://us.mcafee.com/virusInfo/default.asp?id=stinger>
Direct Download: <http://download.nai.com/products/mcafee-avert/stng260.exe>

NOTE: Disable System Restore BEFORE you run Stinger:
<http://vil.nai.com/vil/SystemHelpDocs/DisableSysRestore.htm>

Microsoft provides free anti-virus software that can be used for 1 year.
<http://www.my-etrust.com/microsoft/>

Free online virus scanners

- <http://housecall.antivirus.com/>
- <http://www3.ca.com/virusinfo/virusscan.aspx>
- <http://security.symantec.com/sscv6/default.asp>
- <http://security.symantec.com/ssc/vc_about.asp?j=1&langid=us&venid=sym&plfid=23&pkj=TUIBRGZYFSUEUXN>
- <http://security.norton.com/default.asp?langid=us&venid=sym>
- <http://security2.norton.com/us/home.asp>
- <http://www.freedom.net/viruscenter/onlineviruscheck.html>
- <http://www.pandasoftware.com/activescan/>
- http://www.dials.ru/english/www_av/
- <http://www.kaspersky.com/remoteviruschk.html>

Re: Data Feeds Sleeping

<http://www.ravantivirus.com/scan/>

Another possibility is to borrow a second computer with anti-virus software on it, and put that HDD in it as a slave, and run the anti-virus software to clean it up.

.