I have opened the Help setion of WinXP and then opened a page called "My Computer Information – Software"

This shows a list of many (if not all the programs) I have on Start Up under at heading called "Startup Program Group" . This list shows a name and an install date.

The list has approx 2300 items in it, most of which it says has an "unknown" install date. I have managed to copy ths list to file because I don't have enough paper to print it. (97 pages)

I have appended, below, a sample of the list. If anyone would care to peruse the entire list, I would be happy to send it to them.

Does anyone know what this is? Is this the reason my machine seems to be slowing down?

Thanks
