Please can anyone tell me how I can produce and maintain a windows XP operating system recovery CD that contains all the microsoft updates and service packs I have installed on my PC since purchase. I do have the original recovery disk provided by the PC supplier when I bought it.

I am told I need an uptodate recovery disk or some how to have installed an uptodated operating system on my new hard disk if suffer a hard disk falure and I need to restore all my data from my stand-alone backup hard-drive. I am aware that I can obtain details of all the updates and service packs I have installed on my computer from microsoft.

Any help will be much appreciated
