The shareware on Spybot S&D is still voluntary.
With that being said, when I originally downloaded it quite some time ago, I made a donation, because it was worth it.

Has anyone found a FREE replacement for Microsoft Anti-spyware? TIA.

What do you mean? Microsoft is a late player in the anti-spyware arena. One of the more classical anti-spyware and anti-adware applications is Lavasoft Adaware that can be downloaded from <http://www.lavasoft.de/>.

There is also Spybot S&D, which has gone shareware, but can be downloaded from <http://www.safer-networking.org/en/download/>.
(Make a token donation if you plan on using it.)
