Will anyone agree police can search anyone's car and house without a probable cause and a search warranty just to ensure they're not breaking the law?

MS knights have been trying to frame people trying to protect privacy to the same of those who use illegally software.

Another genuine move and try, but let's see if this also works or not.

I bet your bummed that you will not be able to install the same key on two machines anymore.

Now that they can fingerprint the motherboard BIOS and tie it to your product ID, they can deactivate you if you change it out or upgrade it. (If you're running an OEM version)

WGA, in its present form, is essentially periodic reactivation on a whole new level.
