

Re: Sounds and Audio Devices Program Does Not Load On Windows XP S

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2007-01/msg01571.html>

- From: "Rock" <rock@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 4 Jan 2007 16:51:55 -0800
-

"jwcrpaknz" <jwcrpaknz@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:01325195-2313-4B27-B42A-CF61D1A0CF75@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

To Rock, the error in question is exactly how it happens; I am not adding anything on to it, this is self explanatory. I was looking for the fix. There is no error code. This program just doesn't load at startup and is an intermittent problem. I can see I won't get the answer I needed from you, sorry.

--
jwcrpaknz

"Rock" wrote:

"jwcrpaknz" wrote

- > This is an intermittent fault. Some days I can start the laptop without > an
- > error. Other days, this happens 3 or 4 times before I can get a clean
- > start
- > without any faults. Why is it THIS particular control panel program? > Its
- > really annoying to have to constantly shutdown, and start again. It
- > happens
- > maybe a couple days in a row, then I get a good day when it starts
- > normally,
- > if there is such a thing. I am under the idea that maybe this is a bad
- > Windows XP system, and I would have to completely start from scratch to
- > fix
- > it. Any takers on what could possibly be wrong?

So what exactly is the error, when does it appear and in what form? What is the text of the error verbatim? What is the manifestation of this error? Does something not work? Look in the event viewer in the various logs for any error messages. These can give a clue to what's going on. What troubleshooting steps have you taken? Have you uninstalled/reinstalled the sound device drivers?

Re: Sounds and Audio Devices Program Does Not Load On Windows XP S

<http://www.kellys-korner-xp.com/top10faqs.htm>

Where did my Sounds go?

Making Good Newsgroup Posts

<http://dts-l.org/goodpost.htm>

I'm sorry but your post still isn't clear. What exactly is the error? How does what happen exactly?

—

Rock [MVP – User/Shell]

.