WinXP, SP2

One of my computers rather abruptly is unable to connect to the internet with either IE6 or Firefox. Other computers on network have no problem.

I can ping the router; I can ping www.yahoo.com.

However, when I try to access the internet with either of my browsers, IE6 and Firefox 2, I receive a message that I am unable to connect.

Very curious. Any idea how I begin to track this down?

Thanks
