

Re: Making a DOS based batch program run faster on Windows XP

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2007-02/msg09160.html>

- From: Ghost rider <-00-@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 28 Feb 2007 12:17:50 -0800
-

ctspsr@xxxxxxxxxx wrote:

Hi All,

We have a batch script running on a windows XP PC. This PC is exclusively used to run DOS based batch programs. Are there any tips and tricks to optimize the batch program run faster?

Regards,
Reddy

Other than running the DOS programs on a machine that is optimized for DOS operations, about the only tricks would be to optimize the batch file that is running in the DOS emulation box. Got an example to show for critiquing?

.