I have attempted to run the Microsoft Greetings 99 on my Windows XP system. I have tried this for years and have not had any luck. I would keep getting messages that say "Sorry, you can't continue. Something is missing." I tried using the Program Compatibility Wizard without any success. I have been searching for solutions tonight and there have been some group discussions with people who have successfully used Microsoft Greetings 99 on their Windows XP systems. Are there any patches that I need to download? Thank you very much.
