I've been through a lot since I posted this request, but am now considering this again. Yes, I want to do the upgrade, but the last time I tried I ran into a technical problem. My XP Pro install disc complained that the XP Home installation on the computer already was NEWER than the Pro version. Therefore it stopped the upgrade. Did not even give me the chance to override.

Presumably your Home installation has SP2 and the CD is only SP1. Two options – either uninstall SP2 from your Home installation just prior to doing the upgrade, or slipstream your Pro CD to include SP2. There are many google references on how to do this....
