Most welcome, Sandy.

There is much you can gain from there without being a member. :o)

More info for you from that site:

Kelly,

Thanks for the link. I happened to check it out before posting as that site is pretty informative. From what I could see (and since I'm not a subscriber)

Re: Event 490 in ESENT App Log

the solutions don't apply to my issue. It looks like the solutions had to do with server-side Exchange issues and this is just an XP box.

One of my XP systems came up slow this morning and I noticed an odd error in the Application log:

Type: Error
Source: ESENT
Event ID: 490
Event Time: 8/30/2007 7:07:23 AM
User: n/a
Computer: 4TH_84417
Description:
svchost (1096) An attempt to open the file "C:\WINDOWS\system32\CatRoot2\edb.log" for read / write access failed with system error 5 (0x00000005): "Access is denied.". The open file operation will fail with error -1032 (0xffffbf8).

Looking into what is running in process 1096, svchost,
