Am about to upgrade the hardware in my machine to include reinstalling windows xp. Anyhow, I am trying to find the file that saves the entries you make when spell checker is on for various programs. Thought it was a .dict file, but a search comes up with nothing. Do I not have something setup correctly in my folder options for viewing? is it another file?

On another note, with this reinstall, is there any way to backup other items of customization that may help without it containing corrupt or too much info? If so, then what and how to go about it?

Thanks much.
