

Re: Remote Desktop

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2007-10/msg03001.html>

- From: createwindow@xxxxxxxxxx
 - Date: Sun, 14 Oct 2007 19:36:36 -0700
-

On Oct 15, 12:23 pm, june <j...@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

hi, how to remote desktop without log off the host computer?

Hi june,

1. Get the remote user to invite you to help them. See local Windows help for how to do that. Essentially they send you an rcbuddy email that you need to receive and act on. Won't work if the remote desktop is behind a NAT router though.
2. Use the free version of VNC (google for VNC for details). The free version is not secure in itself. You can tunnel it thru a VPN tho & its fine. Does not work on Vista (the free one that is).

Hope that helps,

CreateWindow

<http://mymessagetaker.com>

The while-you-were-out message program you have been looking for!

.