

Re: Desktop icon's drop shadow doesn't work

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2007-11/msg01714.html>

---

- From: "Unknown" <unknown@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Fri, 09 Nov 2007 22:53:34 GMT
-

Select let windows do it and then remove X from drop shadows.
"kimiraikkonen" <kimiraikkonen85@xxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:1194648401.108473.115610@xx>

On Nov 10, 12:41 am, Robert Jacobs <robertjacob...@xxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

It might be your advanced performance options. Right click on My Computer. go to the Advanced tab and click on Settings under Performance. Click on the radio button next to Adjust For Best Appearance and see if this problem goes away (this could drop your performance just a little depending on your computer)

When i select "adjust for best performance" every checkboxes are cleared as well. If i let Windows to do it, every checkboxes is selected. So your recommendation makes no sense. I want drop shadows displayed.