David,

Thanks, these are the things I needed to know!

| Right now the only differences I can see is:
| You can get a NG in a newsreader like my Forte Agent and you use a different address like
| NEWS.MICROSOFT.COM although you can also access it from the web address.
|
| Is there any other differences?
|

You mean like...
Seeing Full Headers
Browsing posts even though the PC is offline.
Rules and filters to block spam
The ability to post and view attachments (of course in NGs that allow attachments)
Direct access to 10's of thousands of NGs

This is a sampling of what a news client can do.
