

Re: Stored User Accounts Found In Scrolls

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2008-05/msg03532.html>

- From: June <glitteryglamourgirl2dazzleu@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 10 May 2008 14:54:00 -0700
-

where is messenger newgroup at?

--

Lots Of Love=)Thanks June

"Nepatsfan" wrote:

"June" <glitteryglamourgirl2dazzleu@xxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:75963231-463C-40ED-9025-D10EFD79B5A1@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

Hey I Was Hoping Someone Could Help Me=)In Messenger Before You
Sign In There
Is A Scroll Arrow Button On The Sign In Option & If You Click That Option
It
Will Show All The Accounts I Have & Other Peoples Accounts That Were
On My
Computer.I Was Wondering How Can I Get Rid Of Alot Of Them Accounts
From The
Scroll Drop Down Because It Gets Confusing To Have Them All...

--

Lots Of Love=)Thanks June

Go to Control Panel and double click User Accounts.
In User Accounts, click on the icon representing your user account.
Look under Related Tasks in the left hand column and click on "Manage my network passwords".
In Stored User Names and Password, click on the entries you want to delete and hit the Remove button.

If this doesn't help, you might want to post your question to the Messenger newsgroup.

Good luck

Nepatsfan

Re: Stored User Accounts Found In Scrolls