What you say is logical. However, I already took this step. I auto arranged the icons but still no icon representing this file.

Your reply tells me the following:

- You are currently logged on as "Bill Hepburn"
- You use this profile folder: C:\Documents and Settings\Bill Hepburn
- You keep this database in C:\Documents and Settings\Bill Hepburn\Desktop: Contacts.mdb

If you cannot see this file on your desktop then it's probably covered up by some shortcut. Here are a few ways to access it:

- Move your shortcuts about until you see the file.
- Right-click an empty desktop area, then click "Arrange Icons by" and "Auto-Arrange".
- Use "My Computer" or "Windows Explorer" to open it.

When you find it, remember to back it up every few days. You expressed some concern in your initial post about the file disappearing for good some day. Your concern is justified - if you fail to back up the file!
