This may not be the appropriate group, so apologies in advance.

I want to make telephone calls from the UK to Canada using the internet to save on the cost of the call. I have broadband and XP home edition, my daughter is working in a Canadian hospital and only has access to a normal landline phone.

Is this possible? I have not been able to find any relevant information, so a guide as to the correct area to look in and the terminology involved would be great.

Thanks for your help.

Paul
