Originally I had two hard disks, 0 and 1.

Disk 0 contains the XP Pro system files and Disk 1 contains data only. Both of them were NTFS formatted.

Later Disk 0 crashed and a new disk, Disk 0' was added and a new copy of XP Pro was installed on it.

Now the new XP Pro cannot recognise Disk 1. In the disk administrator, it shows that the Disk 1 is "dynamically managed and foreign". I am sure that Disk 1 is working properly and has no problem.

How can I make the new XP Pro recognise the old Disk 1? Please advise.
