Hi there,

I've got a Dynabook from Toshiba here that crashed and lost the hard drive. I re-installed XP and got everything like drivers except for the Intel ethernet and network controller drivers.

It's a Dynabook TX/2513CMSW and the Dynabook website is in Japanese so I can access the right drivers.

It's an Intel ethernet setup as it comes up with the PXE detection device at the startup black screen, so I loaded the popular Intel network card INF driver file in there, but still no help.

Any software that will tell me exactly what driver I need?

Thanks,

Gordon
