| Good morning. My daughter is running Windows XP. She has | never had to use her password when she turns on her
| computer because she has allways be on the Novell network
| ay Depauw University. She lost that connection last night
| and now when she turns on her computer, it asks for her
| password, which she does not remember. I am also an | administrator on the computer. How can she get to her
| password>

| Thanks...
