Hello.

I don't really know what to do about this error but it pops up everytime i am using either internet or windows explorer.

On internet explorer it just won't let me go anywhere by typing the url in the address bar.

It just satarted happening last week, never seen this error before and i've been using windows xp pro for about a year now.

Any help out there please?

The error is:

Generic Host Process for Win32 services has encountered a problem and needs to close.

Cheers
