

Re: cable connection

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.help\_and\_support/2004-04/2739.html

---

From: Steve C. Ray (stevec_at_mail.com)

Date: 04/07/04

Date: Tue, 6 Apr 2004 20:51:07 -0500

Are you talking about your upload and download speeds? It's hard to figure out what you are talking about. To check out your setup go to www.dslreports.com and run the speed tests and the tweak test. This will help you set your connection properly.

--

Steve C. Ray

(Replace "mail" with "36db"

"vic" <victor@kawarthanet.com> wrote in message news:7F0F8CF4-0FA1-4DEB-9B8A-B59F4E8A2084@microsoft.com...

> in my xp i have great output but little input with my cable provider i'm pent2 400 with usb connection into my mother board.

> and this problem gives me a 50/50 chance on opening web sites and times out my outlook .....any idea??

> my firewall is disabled (part of xp) and my security settings r minimal