Occasionally when I reboot, I get an error message with EVERY program I try to open. It tells me either the path, file, etc cannot be found or I don't have the appropriate permission to access the file.

I have administrator authority as I am the only user on my PC – there is no network.

Sometimes I have to reboot several times before I can open my programs from the desktop shortcuts OR even from Program Files/whatever.exe.

Anyone have any ideas – it's driving me nuts

Thanks in Advance, Paul
