I am trying to download and install Kazaa – but when I download and try and install, I get an error stating Unknown Publisher – File blocked because it does not have a valid dig signature to verify its publisher. I've tried turning off firewall, changing security settings to low, and ignore driver signing – none of which has fixed it. How can I get around this annoying block and just install the program that I have used once before – before SP2 that is.

Simple the better – I am not trying to reformat my entire system to download music software – or if you have any suggestions for other music download sites other than kazaa, but as good as kazaa – just let me know! Thanks!
