| Hi All,

|
| I removed my main HDD to do some repairs on another HDD running a
| different OS on my T23. When I went to reinstate my original HDD
| running XP sp1, it came up with all kinds of error reports as to why
| XP wouldn't load (all different and gobbledy gook anyway) so I had no
| option other than to try and recover.

|
| I eventually had to resort to reloading the whole OS from the CD, but
| when it came back up, it won't allow me to logon saying:

| "The Policy of this system does not permit you to logon interactively"
| ?????!!!

| As I am the sole user of this machine, I only have the Administrator
| setup.

Re: HELP – XP Lockout!

| I can however get to the command prompt where it allows me to use my
| original password, but I am stumped as to what to do from here...?

| I have a lot of important data on the drive, which seems all there so
| far, albeit I cannot get into the Directories – access is denied! So I
| need a helpful prompt if you have been in this situation.

| Many thanks for a quick response.
