hi, i read all these posts and was having to same problem with that darn trojan two days ago. I have found a solution and i felt obligated to post it for all of u. I have ad-aware running on my computer and it just wasnt cutting. What i ended up doing was downloading the freeware version of Spybot Search and Destroy and the free 15-day trial of Webroot Spy Sweeper. I ran them all together and it fixed it. I think that the Webroot Spy Sweeper was the key because in the free scan that you can do on their website, it was the only program to recognize the antivirus gold as a trojan. I dont know if it worked because all three programs removed part of it but it worked. Webroot asked me to reboot the system and when i did, there was no warning in the background and no (X) in the toolbar.

Hope that helps,
Dazed and Confused
