Here's the problem I have, my brother-in-law lives about an 8 hour drive from me, so I need to find a way for him to remove a program from movieland called mediapipe.

If I was closer I would go dig out the program myself, but I'm not and he's not that good with computers yet.

Searching out info on this all I found so far is "send us your HIGHJACKER file and we'll tell you what we think".

hoping there is a way I can help him remove this without him having to fresh install the computer.

Is there a program or or a tool someone might suggest?
