I have the same problem. It only appeared recently and the only changes to my system that I can recall are

1. Updated McAfee VirusScan
2. Installed several Windows xp updates.

Anything in common?

I have the same problem. Netscape was never installed here. My workaround is to press Strg+Alt+Del twice and logon without the welcome screen.

The problem occurs not every time I wish to logon, but in case of first logon with Strg+Alt+Del and then (logoff before) try to logon by welcome screen.

I think it is a bug.
