

Re: Can not Share folders. I'm stumped...Help Please

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.help_and_support/2006-04/msg00620.htm

- From: GTinteriors <GTinteriors.25tbnx@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 5 Apr 2006 23:29:55 +0100
-

D-Man Wrote:

Here is one that has got me stumped. I'm running WinXP Pro. All I'm trying to do is share a folder on my C: drive so I can access it from another computer on my LAN. The problem I'm having is when I select "Sharing and Security" then click "Share this folder on the network" and then hit "OK" I get the following error message:

"An error occurred while trying to share "name of folder". The Server service is not started. The shared resource was not created at this time."

So it seems simple enough, go to services.msc and start the server service.

Here is my real problem. If I try to start the Server service, I get this error message:

"Could not start the Server service on Local Computer. Error 126: The specified module could not be found."

I've looked all over the web to no avail. I can't find a fix. I've tried reinstalling Service Pack 1. Started any services that are related to Server service (dependencies) and nothing seems to work. I really don't want to reinstall Windows in fear that it may create more problems than it will solve. I think I removed a .dll file when I uninstalled a program (which one

Re: Can not Share folders. I'm stumped...Help Please

I don't know). Any suggestions are most appreciated. Thanks!

I am having the exact same issue, only it won't let the other computers in the office communicate with my computer (the admin/server computer).

I've gone through every step i can find on the internet, as well as resetting a bunch of .dll files.... i can't figure it out.... does anyone know?

--

GTinteriors

.