Dear Friends,

I am stuck with a strange problem in my computer can't help out can anyone please please please help ??

The Problem is that When I try to access a web site [<http://chat.mobilinksms.com>] into my computer at home it doesn't wrk sometime it says that Web site can not be found and if i still try it goes to google search page or etc.

Another way of accessing this same java control is through [<http://www.smsp.com> and then select Mobilink]. When i try this web site opens but the java control still doesn't come up.

OK now the thing is that i can access both of the web sites from my work place, my friends can use it from their homes and any where else but when i try to open it on my computer it doesn't wrk. Another things is that same sort of web site to send msg to another mobile network works perfectly on my computer which is http://www.ufone.com/vas/s\_sms\_window.html. I believe that means that i dont have any jvm or any other problem with java thingy .. aite..

Solutions I tried:

Reinstalling JVM and updating it

Reinstalling the whole Windows XP and updated it too

Scanning my computer for virus and spywares through pc cillin 2006 updated

BUT I STILL CAN'T ACCESS TO THE WEB SITE :(

One more thing i d lyke to mention is that as i said above when i try to access this java applet from another web site say www.smsp.com and then mobilink it doesn't appears, i can see the box with a cross on it which

Re: Can't access this web site :(

tells that the java applet failed to load. If i right click on it and opens the Java Console the following error msg i get:

Java Plug-in 1.5.0_07
Using JRE version 1.5.0_07 Java HotSpot(TM) Client VM
