The first question to ask yourself is: why can't I spell correctly?

All kidding aside:

Have you installed any new software or hardware lately? If so, uninstall it from Safe Mode.

If not, while in Safe Mode, run a spyware and antivirus scan.

If still not fixed, remove all non-essential hardware such as modems, printers, scanners, webcams, etc. and see if it boots up ok. If it does, reinstall each item one at a time until you find which one is the problem.

If still not fixed, uninstall your applications one at a time, attempting to reboot to Normal mode after EACH uninstall. Just be sure you have the CDs and product keys at hand so you can reinstall each application.

im in trouble eher pls help wrote:

wen i turn on my computer it cums up with black screen offerin options like work in safe mode/safe mode with networkin/last good config/start windows normally but the only 1 it works in is work in safe mode with networking???

does any1 know how to fix this problem as iv tried everything and i think im makin it alot worse?
