I'm with you Steve. I've also had NAV since Win95 and now have NAV2006. In fact, I had to use system restore just before reading this mail because of a fatal error that wouldn't allow re-boot except safe mode. Simple restore and I am back to normal.

I have 2 desktop PC's and a notebook, ALL with NAV 2006. The desktops have XP Pro and the Notebook has XP Home.

I have used sytem restore MANY, MANY times on them, in fact I rolled back a day yesterday on both the desktops !.... and every time with no problems with NAV 2006.

Althought I am not a big fan of Norton programs other than NAV (bad experience many years ago with internet security), NAV if fine with me why so many people knock it I don't know, I have used it since Win 95 days without a single problem....

Just my opinion !

I have the same problem as some other posts here, where my system restore won't function properly because of Norton AntiVirus 2006. I can find the miscellaneous tab to turn ot the 'Turn protection on for my Symantec' feature, however I cannot find anything referring to the 'Symantec Resource Protection' feature. I fear until I can find this I will not be able to restore my computer. Please Help.
