When I want to sign into my wireless router,
it list a sign on name from my hotmail acct.
In live messenger it never list it.
If I remember right there s a place in xp that will save those sign in names?
I want to delete it from the computer listing it
when I want to sign in to the router?
thanks

If by "sign in to the router", you're talking about accessing the web interface used to configure your router's settings, I've found this program helpful when trying to retrieve and/or delete logon credentials.

IE Pass v1.05

Note: You may be thinking of Control Panel -> User Accounts -> Click on your account icon -> Related Tasks -> Manage my network passwords.

Good luck
