Hello everyone,

I would really appreciate some thoughts on our new site. Please fire away with all possible thoughts, remarks, and suggestions – whatever harsh they are.

All comments will be greatly appreciated.

What makes you think that users here want to see your SPAM in disguise? If you truly want to get user input and comments on your site then put a contact link on it and have interested users send you their comments! In these Microsoft news groups your post is nothing more than spam.
