Hello,

I have the system restore turned on. The space I've allowed for storage is 3% or 1075 MB.

But System Restore is only keeping one restore point. When it creates another automatically, it deletes the previous restore point, so basically, it's of no value right now. If I create a restore point manually, the previous restore point is kept.... at least right now I have two restore points from today, because I just created one. But when SR creates a new restore point automatically, all previous SR points will be deleted.

I've turned off System Restore, re-booted... then turned on System Restore and re-booted again. But it's still the same.

I'd sure appreciate any tips on this issue.

Thanks in advance,
Danno
