Thank you both, but whose advice should I be listening to?

have a box in the middle of my desktop that states, warning, your computer
is infected with spyware.....
There is no box to close it, and I can not click on it to delete it.
I have changed the background, and it stays right in the middle of the screen. I have booted up in safe mode and it does not appear, however I can not find it, to remove it.
I have run ad-aware and Symantec, and removed anything that was on the computer, but I can not get ride of this box. any suggestions?

Here are a couple of antispyware programs you might want to run.

SUPERAntiSpyware
