

RE: Windows Messenger Corrupted ?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.messenger/2004-07/0828.html>

---

From: donbass (donbass_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 07/27/04

Date: Mon, 26 Jul 2004 21:44:01 -0700

By re-sizing do you mean your desk top screen is smaller than your monitor see?If so yes.

"Dino" wrote:

- > In recent months, I have been having a problem with my
- > display re-sizing after each reboot.
- >
- > Interestingly, today, I discovered that it appears to be
- > related to Windows Messenger, which I am now assuming has
- > become corrupted.
- >
- > Has anyone ever heard of such a connection ?
- >
- > I assume the only way to be sure is to remove Windows
- > Messenger and reinstall it.
- >
- > I've searched the knowledge base and do not see
- > instructions on how to delete Windows Messenger and
- > Reinstall it. Also, will I lose my contacts list and is
- > there a way to prevent losing it.
- >
- > Thanks !
- >