Hey there.

This problem started when I installed Windows Live Messenger... There are letters that get screwed up when I type them in my display name.

For example, when I type an "á" or a "ç" and then save my display name they show like in the following picture:

And the same happens with some of my contact names, like you can see here: <http://img125.imageshack.us/img125/8349/msnfontprob2ub7.png>

But apparently it's my problem only because for my friends they show "ok".

I already uninstalled the program several times and it didn't work... I also installed the Portuguese version to check if the problem was because that characters do not belong to the English alphabet but it didn't solve anything...

Any help would be really appreciated... Oh, and by the way, if that matters, my OS is Windows XP Pro.

Thank you for your time.
