

microsoft.public.windowsxp.moviemaker: Re: Re:Can't get to play DVD on standalone player

Re: Re:Can't get to play DVD on standalone player

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.moviemaker/2005-02/1290.html>

From: Garyd (Garyd_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 02/23/05

Date: Tue, 22 Feb 2005 19:31:03 -0800

Yes, the speedy DVD will play on another computer just fine but not on the standalone. Pioneer has a new model advertised that says Windows Media Audio compatible. Maybe the disk will play on that.

"Jeffraham Prestonian" wrote:

> "PapaJohn (MVP)" <PapaJohn@CharterMI.net> wrote
>
> > He could be burning the project file... and as long as the DVD is on the > > computer, opening and playing the preview in Movie Maker will work fine...
> > with the source files still on the hard drive.
>
> Heh! Hadn't thought of that. Let's see if his speedy > DVD will play his movie on a different PC. :)
> ..
>
>
>