

Re: DVD Menu

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.moviemaker/2005-07/msg00406.html>

- From: "John Kelly" <webmaster@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 8 Jul 2005 15:55:41 +0100
-

Now why did I not think of doing that. I will have to invest in some more advanced technolu than I have at this moment.

A felt tip pen :) :)

Best Wishes.....John Kelly
www.the-kellys.org

"Wojo" <wojo@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:t0wze.12\$Zy6.6@xxxxxxxx
>
> "John Kelly" <webmaster@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
> news:uN2uTH8gFHA.2152@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx >> On the data backup etc I too keep i,portant stuff on the original tape as >> well as creating a DVD for general use and one as an archive. None of it >> is really old enough yet to worry about disc failure. I guess I will >> start checkng for problems next year...a friend in the trade reports that >> some DVD's can fail as early as 24months from date of manufacture. I hope >> he was talking about the cheap stuff.
>
> Common practice for me is to date the DVD.
> I plan to transfer to a new DVD when the date reaches the 5 year mark (I > don't use cheap DVD's)
>
>>
>> On using small video clips as individual files on a DVD so as to emulate >> chapters...can you set an option to go to the next video at the end of >> one of your clips/chapters or are you forced back to the main menu?
>> Dazzle DVD Complete lets you set a range of options at the end of a clip >> including jumping to different menus etc. Nero has some of those...jump >> to next clip is one of them
>
> Most of the better DVD authoring tools give you the choice of setting it > up to go to the next clip or to go back to the menu. But I will also say > that creating chapter points is easy to do and doing so with separate

Re: DVD Menu

> clips does not create a seamless video there is an obvious pause between > clips when using separate clips at least with all the programs I have > used.
>
>>
>> Best Wishes.....John Kelly
>> www.the-kellys.org
>>
>> Sorry, I am not an Instant Expert
>>
>> "Steve" <Steve@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message >> news:8D7B0BA4-A477-4A31-B4F9-6314A402ACD3@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
>>>I haven't taken the route to buy a newer version of Nero (or upgrade >>>MyDVD) >>> to get all the bells and whistles of DVD authoring. Most of my videos >>> are of >>> my infant and toddler daughters. I capture small amounts at a time. This >>> allows me many options.
>>>
>>> 1) Smaller less complicated movies in MM.
>>> 2) Smaller movies are brought into MyDVD (older version) and become >>> chapters >>> themselves.
>>> 3) The movies sizes are less than 5 GB so I am able to use data DVDs to >>> back >>> up the DV-AVI files. Yes it overkill (back up drive, back up data DVD, >>> authored DVD, and the original tape). However you can never recover what >>> you >>> lose. Cant go back in time.
>>> 4) With all the issues some users have had with upgrades and new codecs >>> etc,
>>> I'm not changing what works.
>>>
>>> May have drifted a bit off the point, but you can get around the chapter >>> point creation if your authoring software is limited by making smaller >>> movies >>> and importing them separately. I use MyDVD v4.5. Good luck!
>>>
>>> Steve
>>>
>>> "John Kelly" wrote:
>>>
>>>> Hello,
>>>>
>>>> Yes, you need to use DVD creation software...check the Help file
>>>>
>>>> You import the result of your editing from whatever program you >>>> used to >>>> create your video into the DVD softwrae and procedd from there.
>>>>
>>>> The program I and others find truly excelent is Nero from

Re: DVD Menu

>>>> www.nero.com
>>>>
>>>> There are free bits of software (best suited to the Nerds of this >>>> world) >>>> that will enable you to create a DVD, providing you are happy to go >>>> through >>>> the learning curve for each piece of software needed.....NEro is highly >>>> capable and is able to produce more than one disk at a time if you have >>>> the >>>> necessary hardware. You can choose to use it as it comes or you can >>>> delve >>>> deeper to find control options for the more advanced user...
>>>>
>>>> Best Wishes.....John Kelly
>>>> www.the-kellys.org
>>>>
>>>> NERDS do it in little pieces
>>>>
>>>>
>>>> "MrAnderson" <MrAnderson@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message >>>> news:5F82F5EE-1DD5-4D5C-8466-E48B960218B2@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx >>>> > Is there any way to add a DVD Title menu to a Windows Movie maker >>>> > file? I >>>> > have recently acquired a DVD-RW Drive, and now I want to transfer all >>>> > of >>>> > the >>>> > tapes from my DV camera onto dvd, but I want to be able to skip >>>> > around to >>>> > different segments of Digital Video, with out fast forwarding. Can >>>> > anyone >>>> > help?
>>>> > --
>>>> > 4
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>
>>
>
>

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: DVD Menu
 - ◇ From: Wojo

- References:

Re: DVD Menu

- ◆ DVD Menu
 - ◇ From: MrAnderson
- ◆ Re: DVD Menu
 - ◇ From: John Kelly
- ◆ Re: DVD Menu
 - ◇ From: Steve
- ◆ Re: DVD Menu
 - ◇ From: John Kelly
- ◆ Re: DVD Menu
 - ◇ From: Wojo

- Prev by Date: Re: DVD Menu
- Next by Date: Re: PC freeze during video capture
- Previous by thread: Re: DVD Menu
- Next by thread: Re: DVD Menu
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread