

Re: Saving my movie

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.moviemaker/2006-03/msg00347.html>

- From: "Wojo" <[\[REMOVED\]wojos_web@\[REMOVED\]verizon.net](mailto:[REMOVED]wojos_web@[REMOVED]verizon.net)>
 - Date: Tue, 14 Mar 2006 16:12:08 GMT
-

Well if you are seeing the clips in the timeline instead of the red X's then it isn't actually a problem with the location of the source files. This error message is one I truly hope Microsoft has taken care of with the version of Movie Maker packaged with Vista when it comes out. The message, in many cases, does not properly state what the problem really is. More often than not you get this message when one or more of your clips are either not compatible with Movie Maker or are corrupt. What filetypes (extensions) are you using in your project? How long is the project in minutes as well as # of clips/transitions? What are your computer specs?

Have a look at my website in the "Movie Maker -> Trouble Shooting -> Can't Save a Movie" section.

--

-Wojo

Wojo's Web:

<http://www.Wojos-web.co.nr>

"Willowi" <Willowi@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:9E79DC6D-88B4-48D0-973B-13F7CAC0AA6E@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

No all the clips are there, I just get a error message after I've chosen all of the specifications for saving saying it can't save as some of the files ive used have been moved or deleted. I looked in "help" and it said all the clips have to be in exactly the same place on my computer as when i added them to my movie, since i have changed computers this is impossible. Any ideas?

"Wojo" wrote:

Do you have red X's in the timeline in place of the clips?
If so right click on one of them and select "Browse for missing file" then locate the clip. Usually after doing this with one or two of them the rest are automatic.

Re: Saving my movie

If there are no red X's then there is something else that is wrong so we will need to know if you are getting an error message or what exactly is happening when you try to save your movie.

—
-Wojo Wojo's Web:
<http://www.Wojos-web.co.nr>

"Willowi" <Willowi@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:EDC5A2E0-C3CC-4165-9A55-99B1D4156CC3@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

I have been working on a movie since August and now I have finished and I need to save it as one complete file. However since then we have bought a new computer and though i copied the movie clips i was using onto the new computer they are obviously not in the same place as when i first added them
so now it won't save, is tyhere anyway to get round this problem?