I have Windows Vista Home Premium (there's apparently no newsgroup for Windows Movie Maker or Windows DVD Maker on Windows Vista) and I've created a nine-segment storyboard in WMM that covers about an hour and a half.

I inserted a blank DVD-R disc in the drive and selected DVD under Publish To. I select Ok to open up Windows DVD Maker and select to burn the DVD. It progresses along fine for a short while until it gets to the 5.6% point. Then it abruptly shuts down my computer.

What could be the cause of this? Any way to fix this problem? Thanks.
