

Re: CDs play slow-distorted

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.music/2006-12/msg00058.html>

- From: Byte <Byte@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 20 Dec 2006 06:56:01 -0800
-

Quote these references "willy nilly"??? Your comments are well taken but fall on deaf ears. They have been accepted and welcomed quite often. I have a sound and photo studio and when I get a "dull" period I check the Newsgroups for some people that "appreciate" some help. If you believe you are more qualified, then "have at it". Oh, BTW, XP - WNP may well stand for - "Windows With No Pay". How about them apples? Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to All.

—
XP - WNP

Today is the first day of the rest of your life.
If you find this response helpful, rate it below.

"theplectrum" wrote:

"Byte" <Byte@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:4650369E-FCAA-475B-AE7F-45EA1C105E07@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Resources for Troubleshooting Sound Problems in Windows XP
<http://support.microsoft.com/default.aspx?scid=kb:EN-US:q307918>

Troubleshooting Audio Playback Issues in XP
<http://www.microsoft.com/windows/windowsmedia/knowledgecenter/mediaadvice/0067.msp>

—
XP - WNP
Today is the first day of the rest of your life.
If you find this response helpful, rate it below.

"jay" wrote:

All device drivers are functioning. Can rip CDs OK and then

Re: CDs play slow-distorted

play or burn,
but CD/Rom drive won't play 'em right. PLEEEZE help me!
Much thanks
—
jay

Dear Byte,

You tend to quote these two references willy nilly.

What is a XP – WNP ??? Are you paid by MS to give these references ?

I know (and congratulate you) that you have a certain knowledge about PC sound etc. but to keep quoting these two links is ... well its just ridiculous. They're not exactly helpful, lets be honest.

Maybe you're a PC tech, probably more qualified than me, your other answers are much more inspiring, but PLEASE, these links are next to useless ! Take the hard way round and answer the people's questions ;-) BTW I agree, sometimes you'll need a crystal ball but

Cheers mate,
Jerry

XP –NBG