Hello,

I have 3 computers in my home office connected to each other via a switch. 2 machines are running Windows XP and one machine is running Windows 2000.

I can not ping the other Windows XP machine from my Windows XP. Although I can ping the Windows 2000 machine. Also the machine which has problem can ping to my machine. It can also access shared folders on my machine. But I can not access the shared folders on it.

I can also ping a HP printer on this network.

I am not using ICS on any of the machines.

Any help in this matter is appreciated. Thanks in advance.
