Hello!

Ok well I am a current user of subprofile.com. I used to use and sign on to it at my old computer, until I got my new one. Now when I try to sign in (with my correct name and password! I know it is!), it gives me this error:

Microsoft Internet Explorer

We have detected that for some reason, your web browser is not sending a referrer. This will result in a problem with the SubProfile registration process. Please make sure that you came to this page from SubProfile.com, are using Internet Explorer 5 or later, and that all interfering internet utilities (ad blockers, proxies, firewalls, etc.) are turned off.

Ok well I am coming from the SubProfile.com website, and I am using IE5, so I know those aren't the problems. I tried turning off my firewall, but then my comp kept saying it was at high risk of being attacked (and I think it was being attacked), and it still didn't work. I also turned off the ad blockers, and that didn't work either (at the same time I turned off the firewalls too >_<). So what do I do? If anything I need to know what these are:

A referrer and a proxy (proxies).

Thanks to anyone who can help!
