

Re: What is IPC$ when I click on network neighborhood?

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.network\_web/2005-01/2360.html

---

From: Carey Holzman (carey_at_careyholzman.com)

Date: 01/22/05

Date: Sat, 22 Jan 2005 04:24:29 -0700

www.careyholzman.com/net1.htm

Carey

"paul dallaire" <paul.dallaire@sympatico.ca> wrote in message
news:LahId.61942$W33.1854320@news20.bellglobal.com...

- > HI! I used to be able to connect to my XP computer ( PII ) through my win98
- > second addition ( PI Pro) but since I had crash on my XP ( a always log
- > off right after I log on problem ) I get this message when I click on the
- > network icon in win98 ( In the "Enter Network Password" box )
- >
- > Resource \\my computername\IPC$
- > Please enter network password.
- >
- > Now I have entered all known passwords and it does not accept any of them.
- > I also tried to use previous connects in the file manager that was still
- > listed there and it still asks me for a password.
- >
- > NOTE: My XP machine is able to view shares on the win98 machine, its just
- > the other way is the problem.
- >
- > does anyone have any reason for this..?
- >
- > Paul
- >