

Slow Network Performance after upgrading to windows xp

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.network_web/2005-02/0248.html

From: Jeremy (Jeremy.Babcock_at_gnb.ca)

Date: 01/28/05

Date: Fri, 28 Jan 2005 09:28:29 -0400

Hello, my situation is this:

I have two computers connected to a Cisco PIX 501 device which connects them via a vpn tunnel over a DSL line to our corporate network. The computers were originally W2k, after upgrading them to XP users are complaining that general network access has slowed down significantly. More specifically with opening/editing documents on file servers, open other file types, etc.

Anyone seen this before?

Thanks.