

Re: communication problem between xp and windows 98

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.network_web/2005-04/msg02101.html

- From: Sam <Sam@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 28 Apr 2005 06:08:06 -0700
-

thanx doug,
i ma sure all machines are connected to domain, they can access server and shared folders which are stored on server but but client to client communication are not happening (only 98 to xp) and what is dsclient from where i can install it

"Doug Sherman [MVP]" wrote:

- > Sounds like the Win98 user account is not logging onto the domain. Try:
 - >
 - > 1. On the Win98 machines, make sure that Client for MS Networks is
 - > configured to log onto an NT domain. Use the NetBIOS name of your domain –
 - > ie. NetBIOS name of mydomain.com = mydomain.
 - >
 - > 2. If you have not done so, install the dsclient on the Win98 machines.
 - >
 - > 3. Make sure that the XP machines are joined to the domain and that all
 - > machines are configured to use only your DC for DNS.
 - >
 - > Doug Sherman
 - > MCSE, MCSA, MCP+I, MVP
 - >
 - > "Sam" <Sam@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
 - > <news:65C6B904-140F-4D4B-B6FF-D0C66A49A06C@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - > > hi,
 - > > i am using windows 2003 domain network with clients winxp pro and win 98
 - > > my win98 machines can see the xp machines but can not access it, it's
 - > > showing error 'logon server not found' but xp machines can access windows
 - > > 98
 - > > machines, please tell me the solution
 - >
 - >
 - >
 - >
 - .
-

Re: communication problem between xp and windows 98

- Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: communication problem between xp and windows 98
◇ From: Doug Sherman [MVP]

- References:

- ◆ communication problem between xp and windows 98
◇ From: Sam
- ◆ Re: communication problem between xp and windows 98
◇ From: Doug Sherman [MVP]

- Prev by Date: Re: Multiple networks
- Next by Date: Re: Can't access folder in user account over network
- Previous by thread: Re: communication problem between xp and windows 98
- Next by thread: Re: communication problem between xp and windows 98
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread